Fighting activity on the Venetian mountain front was considerably limited yesterday, owing to the weather. Notwithstanding violent attacks west of the Brenta River, our Alpine regiments maintained the mountain positions they had taken on the previous day.

"In the high region of Montello our divisions advanced to the westward, fighting their way.

"On both sides of the Oderzo-Treviso railway strong Italian counter attacks broke down.

"Our forces wrested from the enemy more ground west of San Dona and captured Capo Sile.

"The number of prisoners brought in on the southwestern front has
